

Everything from a Single Source

The world of commercial vehicles is changing. The industry will show what matters now and in future at the IAA Transportation 2022, under the banner "People and Goods on the Move". DEKRA offers numerous services in its extensive portfolio. An overview:

IAA Central Topics

Subcategories

DEKRA Services (selection)

The future of logistics

- E-mobility
- Integration of shipping and rail
- Supply chain
- Trucks
- Logistics chain (technological and digital)
- Hydrogen technology

Innovations in public transport

- Bus
- Digital networking
- Electrification
- Sharing concepts
- Hydrogen

Infrastructure

- Rail transport connection
- Data management
- Long-distance bus services
- Filling and charging infrastructure

Last mile

- Digitization of retail; e-commerce
- Inner-city logistics
- Cargo bikes
- Delivery robots
- Transporters
- Vans

- Vehicle inspection
- Testing and homologation - including automated vehicles
- High-voltage training
- Battery test for electric vehicles
- IATF 16949 certification: Quality management in automotive supply chains
- Crash tests
- Testing of automated and connected vehicle technologies
- Testing and certification of charging stations and devices
- Testing and certification of components such as cables and connectors
- Charging infrastructure installation approval
- Testing for e-bikes, e-scooters, etc.
- Education and training for transport-, dangerous goods-, and warehouse logistics
- DIN EN 12798 certification: Quality management for dangerous goods transport
- Auditing
- Testing and services for alternative drives
- Hazard and risk analyses
- Pressure equipment certification
- Testing of high-pressure gas pipelines and storage tanks
- Explosion protection services
- Pipeline inspections
- DEKRA Micro Mobility Standard
- Damage reports / assessments