Frequently Asked Questions About ISO 26000

ISO 26000 was developed to ensure management systems are in line with global corporate social responsibility (CSR) standards. Providing guidance in developing and maintaining an effective, long-term social responsibility strategy throughout your corporate culture, ISO 26000 helps you implement effective environmental and socially responsible measures to ensure fair business practices, secure employee health and safety and protect the communities in which you do business. ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment provides you the opportunity to evaluate your current CSR situation so you can make the improvements you need to succeed in today's sustainable business landscape.

Here, we answer some of the most common questions relevant to our ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment. If your question is not listed below, please contact our experts for assistance.

1. What is ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment?

ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment is a tool to measure and evaluate the level of development or progress of a company committed to socially responsible operations according to principles set out in the standard's guidelines.

2. Why is ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment important to my business?

Because many stakeholders and investors are now choosing to exclusively support those adhering to sustainable practices and policies, it is vital that every business follows ISO 26000 standard guidelines evaluating effective strategies and systems designed to ensure reliable corporate social responsibility.

Independent maturity and social responsibility assessment can help you transparently gauge the effectiveness of current efforts, verify successful measures and strengthen areas of weakness.

3. How can ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment benefit my company?

In addition to helping you integrate CSR tenets throughout your core business, ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment can provide the documentation you need to enhance your company image with fair operating practices, proven sustainability strategies and effective environmental policies so you can impress investors, attract top employees and strengthen customer loyalty.

4. How can I prepare for an ISO Maturity Assessment?

DEKRA experts are on hand to provide a pre-self-assessment designed to identify gaps in your current CSR efforts and make sure you ready for the comprehensive ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment.

5. How is the DEKRA ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment conducted?

Our ISO 26000 Maturity Assessment uses a web-based system to evaluate company performance and levels of improvement needed to strengthen current CSR measures. Based on a maximum overall score of 1000 points over 5 levels of maturity, DEKRA assessment is best applied as a continuous method setting targets and tracking progress. We provide regular support from a single, neutral source so you can be sure your efforts are yielding optimal results.
