In this privacy notice, DEKRA / we / us means that group of companies.

What is the purpose of this document?

We are a "data controller". This means that we are responsible for deciding how we hold and use personal information about you. You are being sent a copy of this privacy notice because you are applying for work with us (whether as an employee, worker or contractor). It makes you aware of how and why your personal data will be used, namely for the purposes of the recruitment exercise, and how long it will usually be retained for. It provides you with certain information that must be provided under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR).

Data protection principles

We will comply with data protection law and principles, which means that your data will be:

- Used lawfully, fairly and in a transparent way;
- Collected only for valid purposes that we have clearly explained to you and not used in any way that is incompatible with those purposes;
- Relevant to the purposes we have told you about and limited only to those purposes;
- Accurate and kept up to date;
- Kept only as long as necessary for the purposes we have told you about; and
- Kept securely.

The kind of information we hold about you

In connection with your application for work with us, we will collect, store, and use the following categories of personal information about you:

- The information you have provided to us in your curriculum vitae and covering letter.
- Any information you provide to us during an interview.

- Any information received as part of any tests undertaken by you.

We may also collect, store and use the following "special categories" of more sensitive personal information:

- Information about your race or ethnicity, religious beliefs, sexual orientation and political opinions.
- Information about your health, including any medical condition, health and sickness records.
- Information about criminal convictions and offences, where applicable to the role.

How is your personal information collected?

We collect personal information about candidates from the following sources:

- You, the candidate;
- A recruitment agency, from which we collect the following categories of data:
 - Name;
 - Address;
 - telephone numbers;
 - e-mail address;
 - salary;
 - career history;
 - education;
 - training;
 - qualifications; and
 - personal interests / hobbies.
- Psychometric and aptitude testing results through third parties, such as Thomas International or other similar in respect of any tests undertaken as part of the recruitment process.
- Disclosure and Barring Services, in respect of criminal convictions, where applicable to the role.
- Your named referees, from whom we collect the following categories of data:
 - Name;
 - Job title;
 - Date of employment; and
 - Reason for leaving.

- The data from third parties which is a publicly accessible source such as LinkedIn.

How we will use information about you

We will use the personal information we collect about you to:

- Assess your skills, qualifications, and suitability for the role;
- Carry out background and reference checks, where applicable to the role;
- Communicate with you about the recruitment process;
- Keep records related to our hiring processes; and
- Comply with legal or regulatory requirements.

It is in our legitimate interests to decide whether to appoint you since it would be beneficial to our business to appoint someone to that role.

We also need to process your personal information to decide whether to enter into a contract of employment with you.

Having received your CV and covering letter and the results from the test which you have undertaken, we will then process that information to decide whether you meet the basic requirements to be shortlisted for the role. If you do, we will decide whether your application is strong enough to invite you for an interview. If we decide to call you for an interview, we will use the information you provide to us at the interview to decide whether to offer you the role. If we decide to offer you the role, we will then take up references, carry out a criminal records check (where applicable to the role) carry out right to work checks and ask routine medical questions before confirming your appointment.

If you fail to provide personal information

If you fail to provide information when requested, which is necessary for us to consider your application (such as evidence of qualifications or work history), we will not be able to process your application successfully. For example, if we require a credit check or references for this role and you fail to provide us with relevant details, we will not be able to take your application further.

How we use particularly sensitive personal information. We will use your particularly sensitive personal information in the following ways:

- We will use information about your disability status to consider whether we need to provide appropriate adjustments during the recruitment process, for example whether adjustments need to be made during a test or interview.
- We will use information about your race or national or ethnic origin, religious, philosophical or moral beliefs, or your sexual life or sexual orientation, to ensure meaningful equal opportunity monitoring and reporting.

Information about criminal convictions

Where applicable to the role, we will use information about your criminal convictions if we would like to proceed with your application or offer you the role (conditional on checks and any other conditions, such as references, being satisfactory). This information may be required to fulfil regulatory or legal obligations, to ensure that there is nothing in your criminal records history which makes you unsuitable for the role. Further, if the role requires a high degree of trust and integrity, we may like to ask you to seek a basic disclosure of your criminal records history. If any of this is applicable, this will be explained to you during the recruitment process.

We have in place an appropriate policy document and safeguards which we are required by law to maintain when processing such data.

Automated Decision Making

You will not be subject to decisions that will have a significant impact on you based solely on automated decision-making.

Data Sharing

Your personal information will be processed confidentially at all times. We will only share your personal information with selected third parties for the purposes of processing your application, such as recruitment agencies and any other DEKRA group company, All our third-party service providers and other entities in the group are required to take appropriate security measures to protect your personal information in line with our policies. We do not allow our third-party service providers to use your personal data for their own purposes. We only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

Within our company, only those persons and functions will receive your personal data that require it for the application process and to fulfil our pre-contractual/contractual and legal obligations.

In principle, the effective use of matrix structures within DEKRA requires the exchange of personal data. This may also involve the transfer of applicant data between different DEKRA group companies In some cases, there are also application processes in which participants in application interviews from different DEKRA Group companies are involved. This exchange takes place in accordance with the applicable data protection regulations and is secured by internal data protection agreements.

We base this transfer of personal applicant data within the matrix structures in our group of companies on legitimate group interests (Art. 6 para. 1 lit. f. GDPR).

Insofar as special categories of personal data within the meaning of Art. 9 para. 1 GDPR are communicated or requested as part of the application process, the legal basis is Art. 9 para. 2 lit. b, g and/or h GDPR, § 26 para. 3 BDSG.

Data security

We have put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal information from being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorised way, altered or disclosed. In addition, we limit access to your personal information to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need-to-know. They will only process your personal information on our instructions and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality. Details of these measures may be obtained from the Data Protection Officer.

We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected data security breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected breach where we are legally required to do so.

Data retention

How long will you use my information for?

We will retain your personal information for a period of 6 months after we have communicated to you our decision about whether to appoint you to. We retain your personal information for that period so that we can show, in the event of a legal claim, that we have not discriminated against candidates on prohibited grounds and that we have conducted the recruitment exercise in a fair and transparent way. After this period, we will securely destroy your personal information in accordance with our policies and/or applicable laws and regulations.

If we wish to retain your personal information on file, on the basis that a further opportunity may arise in future and we may wish to consider you for that, we will write to you separately, seeking your explicit consent to retain your personal information for a fixed period on that basis.

Rights of access, correction, erasure, and restriction

Your rights in connection with personal information

Under certain circumstances, by law you have the right to:

- Request access to your personal information (commonly known as a "data subject access request"). This enables you to receive a copy of the personal information we hold about you and to check that we are lawfully processing it.
- Request correction of the personal information that we hold about you. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate information we hold about you corrected.
- Request erasure of your personal information. This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal information where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. You also have the right to ask us to delete or remove your personal information where you have exercised your right to object to processing (see below).
- Object to processing of your personal information where we are relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground. You also have the right to object where we are processing your personal information for direct marketing purposes.
- Request the restriction of processing of your personal information. This enables you to ask us to suspend the processing of personal information about you, for example if you want us to establish its accuracy or the reason for processing it.
- Request the transfer of your personal information to another party.

If you want to review, verify, correct or request erasure of your personal information, object to the processing of your personal data, or request that we transfer a copy of your personal information to another party, please contact the Data Protection Officer (DPO) in writing.

Right to withdraw consent

When you applied for this role, if you provided specific consent to us processing your personal information for the purposes of the recruitment exercise, then you have the right to withdraw your consent for processing for that purpose at any time. To withdraw your consent, please contact our recruitment team. Once we have received notification that you have withdrawn your consent, we will no longer process your application and, subject to our retention policy, we will dispose of your personal data securely.

Data protection officer (DPO)

We have appointed a DPO to oversee compliance with this privacy notice. If you have any questions about this privacy notice or how we handle your personal information, please contact our DPO. You have the right to make a complaint at any time to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), which is responsible for data protection issues in the UK.

If you have any questions about this privacy notice, please contact the DPO by email to dpo.uk@dekra.com.
